

Anthony Marchese -- Leaving New England
Copyright 1996

(as transcribed by Jim ... so apologies to Ant)

VERSE 1:

G G/f# D D
With wrinkled fingers you stand
Hands behind your back
You used to dream of changing the world
Now you dream of changing it back

PRE-CHORUS 1:

D G/f# G G
I used to think you were indestructible
I guess I thought that we were too
Em G/f# G G
But when it's time I hope we both know what to do
Bm C D D
Make a choice and see it through

VERSE 2:

The ring of pain on your hand / Your hands behind your back
You used to dream of painting the world / Now you dream of rusting lies

PRE-CHORUS 2:

I always thought you were indestructible / And, I guess I thought that we were too
Just like ashes making islands in the sound / You make a choice and see it through

CHORUS:

Em G/f# G
3x: And the world will catch up to you
A G A G A G A G
To you!

SOLO THROUGH VERSE PROGRESSION

PRE-CHORUS 3:

I always thought that you were inseparable / Then again I thought that we were, too
When it's time I hope we both know what to do / Make a choice and see it through

CHORUS

End on G