

SOMETHING LINGERS

Copyright Lars Marchese circa 1993; performed by The Fords

Tempo: 154 bpm

INTRO:

D G F G

VERSE 1:

D G F G
When I can honestly view / how my life has changed since I broke off with you
D G F G
I see that I've grown / I see there's a way to live so different from what I've known
A Bm G
And being all alone / somehow it's shown
A
I'm not the man you were calling me . . .

VERSE 2:

But when I hear about you / Or if (God forbid) we end up in the same room
Something else takes control / And I'm right back in the dark, dark days of old
And something takes a hold / I find myself told
"You've spent two years in a lie to yourself"
Then nothing is real except what hurts . . .

CHORUS 1:

D G F G
She's gone, she's gone, she's gone, gone, gone! / I don't want to hear about her anymore
She's gone, she's gone, she's gone, gone, gone! / I don't want to feel this way anymore
She's gone, she's gone, she's gone, she's gone / But something lingers on

VERSE 3:

Sometimes weeks will pass / And I brag to my friends that I am free at last
I know that I am / But then something comes right up and brings me right back down again
I wonder if and when / We can be friends
Stop comparing my life to yours
I want to break this link, but once and for all

CHORUS 2

BRIDGE:

Am C
Sometimes when I'm feeling happy
G D C G
It's got nothing to do with you
Am C
And those times when I'm feeling happy
G D C G
I know someday that I'll be free from you
C G D . . .
I'll be free from you you . . .

VERSE structure with:

Now I'm thinking of you . . . I'm thinking of you
